Two Badly Injured In Automobile Accidents In Antioch Community

Miss Hayes' Car Overturns; Jerry Hunter's Car Hits Trailer Truck

Two Antioch Township residents were badly injured in separate automobile accidents Tuesday night. Miss Lillian Hayes of Petite Lake, was seriously hurt when her car went out of control on Grass Lake rd. two blocks east of Fox River early in the evening.

The Antioch Rescue squad first took her to the office of a physician and then to Victory Memorial hospital where she was treated for cuts about the head and legs.

Captain Herman Holbek said the car turned over several times and that Miss Hayes was lying 15 feet from it in an unconscious condition when found.

The report of the sheriff's office said the woman was driving east when the car swerved to the north shoulder and turned over rolling down the center of the highway.

Jerry Hunter Injured

Jerry Hunter, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hunter of Pikeville on the Wisconsin-Illinois state line, was taken to Victory Memorial hospital at 4:15 a. m. yesterday with a bad chest injury after his automobile crashed into a trailer truck at Gages Lake on Rte. 45.

Hunter was on his way home and it was said his car got off the pavement and when he attempted to turn back it swung over in the path of an approaching trailer truck, hitting it a glancing blow.

Both the car and truck were badly damaged.

Bud Holtz Criticizes Dealers Who Illegally Sell Liquor To Minors

Holtz, who is executive vice president of the Illinois Licensed Beverage Association, said the group's tavern insurance plan will soon be ready.

"We have sold $65,000 worth of stock in the company and need only another $35,000 before we can begin operating," he said.

Holtz criticized members of the association who failed to take stock in the company at $50 a share.

"After all this insurance company is being organized for your benefit in order to keep costs of insurance for the dram shop act within reason," he said.

State's Attorney Robert C. Nelson said that it would cost from $500 to $600 to return Johnson for trial and the county has a limited fund for transportation, and could not be reimbursed by the state. The shoe company was reluctant to help bear the expense.

Johnson was employed as assistant manager of the Waukegan store. Waukegan police said that on a previous occasion the man took money, but relatives reimbursed the company.

Waukegan police had Los Angeles police arrest Johnson when it was learned that he was there.

Chicago Policeman Is Charged With Improper Conduct by Teen-Agers

It may take a lie detector test to tell who is lying, a policeman who said he was slugged after giving three teen-agers a ride, or the boys who charged the policeman of threatening their lives and disorderly conduct.

Walter Gorr, 19, and Alfred Packard, 19, Grayslake, and Frank Wheeler of Kansas City, Mo., brought James Derrig, 44, Chicago policeman to the county jail Sunday and said that Derrig pulled a gun on them while they were helping him get a car out of the ditch near the Four Aces tavern near Channel lake.

Derrig, according to their story, made advances to one of the youths and pulled a gun on him when he objected. Another one of the boys knocked Derrig's arm upward and the gun fired into the air.

A lug wrench was then wielded in subduing Derrig and he was then brought to the sheriff's office.

Derrig's story was that he had a drink with one of the youths in the tavern and then offered him a ride home. After they entered the car, according to Derrig, he was grabbed and then slugged from behind.

A .38 caliber police revolver and a small Spanish automatic and a switch blade knife were taken from Derrig as he was locked. His bond was placed at $400. Derrig has been a member of the Chicago police force 17 years, is married and has five children.

"Extraordinarily Good"

Many believe that the distribution of physicians in this country is excessively uneven and that a substantial part of the population does not have doctors readily available.

The facts are found in a seven-year study made by a bureau of the American Medical Association. As of a comparatively recent date, every community with more than 5,000 population had at least one physician in active private practice, as did 98 per cent of those with 2,500-5,000 people and 88.3 per cent of those in the 1,000-2,000 population bracket. And only 250,000 Americans—one sixth of one per cent of the population—live more than 25 miles from a doctor.

These disclosures certainly support the study's conclusion that the distribution of doctors in relation to the people they serve is "extraordinarily good."

When You Mail a Letter

When you slip a letter in a mailbox, you don't worry about its reaching its ultimate destination safely and surely. This confidence is really an expression of faith in the efficiency and dependability of the American railroads. Trucks and planes are essential to our postal organization, but trains serve the whole country and provide the capacity it takes to carry peak loads. They have been and still are the backbone of our mail service.

If you mail a letter to any one of more than 40,000 destinations in any season of the year, the chances are nearly nine out of ten that it will ride a train. The rails operate special cars and terminal facilities to handle an average of more than 100,000,000 pieces of mail a day.

The railroads provide these things at their own expense, without any subsidy from the taxpayer. For transporting a first-class letter they are paid less than one-eighth of a cent. That's a pretty small part of the cost of a three-cent stamp. And certainly it's a small charge for a big job well done.

Free Prices Create Incentives

Dr. Earl Butz, of Purdue University, recently said: "There are too many people in America today who do not really believe in free prices but still believe they can look to Washington for price supports, price regulations and price ceilings. . . . We must get the point across to every citizen . . . that the incentives under free prices make our economy great and strong."

We can prove this for ourselves, by the simple expedient of remembering what happened after the last world war under OPS and OPA. Shortages were rampant. Black markets flourished, at the expense both of the consumer and the honest retailer. The quality of goods was often inferior.

Contrast this with the situation today. We have a free price system in which the law of supply and demand, not a political decision determines the value. We have wide open competition all along the production and distribution line. And our stores are almost literally groaning with the widest conceivable selection of goods of all kinds. And their prices, when measured in the light of current incomes and consumer purchasing power, are generally lower than in typical past periods.

Government economic controls can't help but destroy initiative, just as they can't help but limit opportunity and penalize enterprise.

The Right to Work

The story of the fight for human freedom would fill endless volumes. A notable page recently was added in Texas.

Some time ago a small group of railroad workers sued for an injunction to prevent their employer and a union from signing a union shop contract, which would have prevented a man who didn't want to join from earning his living. Judge Nelson of the 108th District Court now has ruled that "Congress has no right to enact legislation making union membership a test of the right to work."

He said further, "That which denies a person the right to work . . . denies to him his liberty, the pursuit of happiness, and . . . life itself. . . . There was a period of union busting and head busting and of 'yellow dog' contracts. That was wrong, but that time, thank God, has passed. But it is just as wrong now that unions should endeavor to compel men and women to join a union at the price of holding their jobs."

How can anyone who believes in liberty refute that?

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

I label the lecture "The U. S. A." So much stuff has been cooking within our shores in the past 20 years that it is time to look under the covers and see what has come over us anyway, that we have been so softened up. With the least ache or pain in our business midriff a lunch-club delegation hops the rattler and heads for old Matching-Money-Town for a handout.

The foundation stone as laid down in 1776 didn't say anything about guaranteeing anybody prosperity and a full ice box or an every Saturday night filet mignon. It guaranteed each person who chose to flex his muscles the right to flex it—the right to keep the mazzima that followed his perspiration and effort. The Govt. owes nobody a living but it did in the early days, guarantee each citizen the right to make same if he chose. It don't do so now—you gotta have a permit by the labor temple to which the Govt. has given the nod.

If this U. S. A. cannot get along—have prosperity—without having a war, going on or its nose in everybody's business—and hand-outs as matching money, we don't qualify as rugged successors of our rugged founders. We are slipping. The Govt. has become so big that we don't know where we hurt the most—we just know we hurt all over, and especially around March 15 as any folding dinero left over is skimmed off clean as a whistle. A revival in "ruggedness" is overdue—personal and political.

The Lake Villa Grade School band association will sponsor a spring carnival at the school gym on Saturday, March 27 from 2 p. m. to 11 p. m., and hope that you will cooperate with the association which is furnishing the larger and more expensive instruments not ordinarily owned by the pupils. The carnival will present a musical program throughout the day, featuring the Grant High School chorus, numbers by the Junior and Senior bands of the Lake Villa school, the Grayslake grade and high school bands and the Antioch high school band. There will be booths for the sale of bakery goods, needlework, white elephant articles, plants, comic and children's books. Please call Mrs. Gordon Martin, president of the association in regard to contributions you may have.

The William Effinger family has welcomed a new member, a son born at Conde hospital on Wednesday, March 10 and who has been named Michael.

Mrs. Helen Weber spent the week end in Evanston with her sister, Mrs. George Mitchell and family. She went back with them on Saturday after they had attended the party for Mrs. Wm. J. Weber on Friday evening.

Mrs. Wm. J. Weber (Megan) was honored guest at a surprise party shower at the home of Mrs. Helen Weber on Friday evening, March 12, and Mrs. Florence Whitaker and Mrs. Alma Reidel were co-hostesses. In spite of the icy storm and condition of the roads there were nineteen guests, among them Mrs. George Mitchell and her daughter, Mrs. Helen Ann Center and children, all of Evanston and Mrs. Theodore Engh of Wadsworth. The honored guest received many beautiful and useful articles for her further use and the group enjoyed a most delightful evening.

Mrs. Richard Cerk, nee Lorraine Bock, was guest of honor at a shower held Sunday afternoon at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Mildred Hucker, with another aunt, Mrs. Julia Nicolai as assistant hostess, and more than twenty relatives and friends came for the occasion. Mrs. Cerk received many beautiful and useful gifts for her future use. She and her husband live in Waukegan, and are well known here as they are often guests at the home of her grandfather, Frank Galliger, and other relatives, and she also formerly lived here.

THE TELETAG IDENTIFICATION PLAN

Leading civic groups and welfare organizations endorse this fast, easy method of identification

Any parent whose child has ever been lost—anyone who has ever lost a hat, umbrella, brief case or other personal property—will welcome the Teletag Identification Plan. It fulfills a need that has long been recognized by police departments, schools, doctors, hospitals, parents, teachers, civil defense and many other organizations.

What the Teletag Plan is. A simple, yet practical idea that a telephone number is a key item of personal identification. Teletagging clothing and personal belongings is a quick, positive means of identification for lost articles—or even people.

A telephone number as part of the identification—

- Speeds the return of strayed or lost children
- Makes it easy for the finder to return lost property
- Gives faster identification in case of sudden illness or accident
- Saves time and lives when quick identification is needed
- Eliminates any confusion between similar names and addresses

What is a teletag? A teletag is as simple as you want to make it. It means putting your telephone number on personal belongings and, if you wish, your name and address. Maybe it's written in indelible ink on clothing, or painted on a child's wagon. There are many ways to teletag—a rubber stamp, printed or woven name tapes, metal tags, etc. Choose the method which best suits your needs.

Teletags often include name and address, but—and this is most important—they always include a telephone number. If a child is lost or if a person is injured, a telephone call is usually the first step required for fast action.

What to do. Many suppliers of identifying devices have recognized the importance of the telephone number for identification purposes and are now prepared to furnish teletags or the materials to make them. The next time you are shopping, ask for them. Put them on your children's clothing, on gloves, rubbers, umbrellas, books, glasses case, brief cases, luggage—on everything that you carry around or wear that may get lost. Don't forget cameras, sports equipment, or garden tools that you lend to neighbors. And by all means, put teletags on bicycles, tricycles, wagons and toys that may be left all over the neighborhood. The identification card in your wallet should carry your telephone number, too. It will save you time, trouble, worry and money.

By using teletags, you will recover lost articles and strayed children sooner. Another way your telephone can be of even more value to you!

The following organizations are among those endorsing the teletag idea:

SHORT STORY

Shoes for Pat

By F. L. Rowley

"BUT officer, it was an amber light and I had already reached the intersection. I had to go through."

Officer Quinlan looked coldly at the well-dressed young man in the new car—"Did ye now? Well yer going to git a ticket or me name ain't Tom Quinlan. And yer lucky at that. What if ye'd hit this little darlin'?" He pointed to the girl who stood beside him. She was still quivering with fright; the big car had skidded to a stop just inches away from her red gingham skirt.

3-Minute Fiction

"What's your name honey?" asked the driver of the car as he wriggled through the door nearest the curb.

"Pat," she answered, brushing straight black hair behind her ears, "Pat Murphy."

"It's a fine name," commented officer Quinlan drawing the ticket book from his pocket, "a fine name indeed. And what do you call yourself?" he asked, glaring at the young man.

"Er—Sullivan, sir. Tim Sullivan that is. I'm right sorry to have frightened this lovely colleen. If there's anything I can do to make amends—"

"Please don't give this nice man one of your tickets," the girl said as she grasped officer Quinlan's sleeve, "after all, it was partly my fault."

Officer Tom Quinlan seemed perplexed. He looked from the bright blue eyes of nine-year-old Pat to the frank brown eyes of the young man. This was a problem.

"Tell you what Pat," said the owner of the new car taking quick advantage of the situation, "I'll buy you a present, how's that? What would you like most? A doll?"

"No," said Pat gazing hopefully at Kaplan's shoe store on the other side of the street, "I'm going to a birthday party tomorrow and I'd like a pair of shiny new shoes. There's a pair over there in Kaplan's window that are just beautiful."

For some reason the young man seemed disappointed. "How about a nice big doll house?" he asked.

"No, shoes!" Pat's young jaw was firm.

"I'll buy you a bicycle," "Shoes!"

"Here! Here!" cried Tom Quinlan opening his book once more. "I think ye'll be needing a ticket."

The young man sighed, "All right, you win, shoes it is."

The three of them marched across the street and into Kaplan's shoe store. Sam Kaplan himself came forward to greet them. A puzzled expression crossed his face when he saw officer Quinlan.

"This young lady wants a pair of shiny new shoes," the well dressed man said sharply, "Give her the best you have."

"Yes sir," said Sam Kaplan very slowly without taking his troubled old eyes off Officer Quinlan.

Pat Murphy beamed. This was her day. She had never dreamed that these beautiful black shoes would be her very own, and here she was trying them on. She felt like kissing the nice young man. And jumping up, she did just that, and officer Quinlan too. She was walking on air as they left the store.

"They hadn't gone twenty yards when the young chap exclaimed: 'By golly, I forgot to pay Mr. Kaplan for the shoes!' And hurriedly shaking hands with Pat Murphy, nodding to officer Quinlan, he turned and dashed back to the little shop."

Once inside he turned the latch, wiped his brow, and leaned against the door. To Sam Kaplan's quizzical stare he merely said: "Hi dad, meet Mr. Tim Sullivan."

"You're always joking son. What was that policeman doing in here?"

"Well he had a ticket to sell, but I told him I'd much rather spend my money on shoes for Pat."

And Sam Kaplan Sr., being quite thorough in everything he did scrawled into the debit column of his great ledger the only item that he was never fully able to understand: SHOES FOR PAT.

YESTERDAYS

TWENTY YEARS AGO
"Old Jim" Passes on to Happy Land
"Old Jim," the blind, dependable draft horse that had drawn the milk wagon for the local milk delivery plant for the past 15 years is no more. He passed away Saturday afternoon of heart trouble, according to the diagnosis of Dr. George Jensen, veterinarian.

He had started out as usual Saturday morning on his milk route, driven by Eugene Sheehan, employee of the dairy. During the trip he stumbled and fell once, but recovered himself and continued his route, until he reached the shed at the plant, when he dropped to the ground.

Jim had reached the venerable age of 25 years, equaling in longevity that of a person 90 years. He was purchased from Wallace Drom along with the dairy plant by Walter Scott in 1925.

During his 15 years on the route, he became a favorite and pet of countless school children, with whom he exchanged mutual liking and recognition. He possessed unusual intelligence and could be trusted to observe all stops and turns without direction, despite his loss of vision.

He narrowly escaped injury some time ago when the milk wagon was struck by an auto driven by Harry Swanson of Deep Lake and demolished.

His successor is a draft horse named Colonel, obtained in Central Wisconsin by Walter Scott. Colonel will begin his duties the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Mollie Somerville spent from Friday until Monday in Chicago with her sister, Mrs. A. Swanson, whose husband is in the hospital.

Sunday guests at the William Rosing home were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Voght of Ingleside.

Laurel Powles received news from the office of President Roosevelt of his promotion to First Lieutenant of the Quartermaster Corps Reserve of the U. S. Army. Plans are already being formulated by the Legion and Auxiliary for the annual carnival to be held in July.

The next meeting of the unit will be a social and business meeting on Friday, March 26, at 8 p. m. in the Legion Home.

Coach Peterson Sheds
Duties as Basketball
Coach at Central High

Salem—Coach Cliff Peterson of Central High School asked to be relinquished of his duties as head basketball coach for the coming '54-'55 season enabling him to devote more time as Athletic Director and Director of Physical Education.

Principal A. H. Erickson announced Coach Peterson would continue as head football and track coach. Ralph Loneragan, B team coach, will pilot the Falcon cagers the coming school year. He attended the University of Wisconsin and participated in varsity and J-V basketball and football.

Coach Peterson has done a commendable job since the new school opened in September, 1952, according to Principal Erickson. Lack of experienced material and facilities were encountered, but in spite of adverse conditions the Salem Falcons commanded the respect of the opponents toward the close of the 1953-54 season.

LIFE SAVING—40 FEET HIGH!

Ever see a man brought back from the "dead"? Here's one who apparently was, and the men who were responsible for saving his life—at the top of a 40-ft electric pole.

It all happened near Hughesville, Md., when Joseph L. Bowen, center, was transferring "hot" electric wires from an old pole to one which had just been installed. When he accidentally touched one of these wires with his bare hand, he "died" on the spot.

As they re-enact scene, Anderson (left) applies the little used type "pole top" artificial respiration while James Shenton (right) helps secure the victim.

Later Bowen was lowered and revived after two hours of patient life saving effort on the part of fellow employees. The incident passed almost unnoticed until their employer—Southern Maryland Electric Cooperative—was notified by its insurance carrier. Employers Mutuals of Wausau, Wis., that these men were to receive the insurance firm's top heroism award. How's Bowen? See lower picture: he's in the middle. He has nothing but a burnt finger, long since healed, to mark his joust with death. Moral: When applying artificial respiration, don't give up even if it appears to be hopeless.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There is the story going around that a freshly deceased man applying for admittance to the Pearly Gates was asked what he had done on earth. "Among other things," he replied, "I was once U. S. Secretary of Agriculture."

"Enter then," he was told, "You've had a rough life."

This probably illustrates what Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson felt when storm broke over decision to lower support on dairy products.

But government already has close to $400 million invested in surplus dairy products, plus millions in other products.

Unfortunately, no Agriculture Secretary can attack the real roots of the farm problem.

One problem is due to destruction of U. S. tariff protection. In 1947 foodstuffs with value of $2½ billion were imported. By 1951 food imports had doubled, reaching more than $5 billion, and was about same in 1952.

In meantime, exports of food dropped from $4 billion in 1947 to less than $2½ billion in 1952. Going back further Commerce Department figures show that until reciprocal trade treaties went into effect in the 30's U. S. food exports equaled or exceeded food imports. From about 1935, until war food imports exceeded exports, often by ratio of 3 to 1.

During war food exports were much higher than imports, but since war, even with U. S. vast give-away programs the nation has been bringing in more food than it has shipped out, either as gifts, or legitimate business.

Figures also show U. S. per capita food consumption is at an all time high, but a lot of that consumption is accounted for by imported foreign food.

Another fallacy is parity. This is a scale whereby the price of certain food crops is presumably pegged to the price of what he must buy. This is akin to comparing codfish with jersey hellers.

The farmer must sell his products, subject to the vagaries of supply and demand. However, many of the things he must buy, such as petroleum, commercial fertilizers, are controlled by a few factors who fix prices unrelated to the law of supply and demand. He is in a nutcracker.

Pressure on one jaw is being exerted by the international clique of free traders. The other jaw is squeezed by monopoly minded farm suppliers who control production and prices of items farmers need.

Farm programs of past few years have been only opiates to ease pain of the squeeze.

But government has not come to grips with the real farm problem of vital national concern.

And here's another example of the wrecking of America. Congressman Lane, Mass., claims textiles imported in 1952 would have furnished jobs for a full year for 5,000 more U. S. workers. But while wages in U. S. mills average $1.60 per hour, in England they average 40 to 45 cents per hour. While American worker is 1.5% more productive, greater productivity cannot overcome a 4 to 1 wage differential.

Without stronger tariff protection for the American businessman, worker and farmer, only war or government relief projects will stop climbing unemployment figures.

Reporter Who Buried (Buffalo Bill) Cody Dies in Denver, Colo.

DENVER—An era in Americana came to a close recently with the death of Edgar C. McMechen in Denver recently.

McMechen, relatively unknown at the time of his death at the age of 60, was the man responsible for the burial of William F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody on Colorado's Lookout Mountain.

McMechen is still cursed in Wyoming and Nebraska for his action at the time of Buffalo Bill's death. When the great long-haired sharpshooter died in Denver in 1917, McMechen, who was secretary to Denver Mayor Robert W. Speer, quietly got permission from Cody's wife for the burial on Lookout Mountain near Golden. When residents of Cody, Wyoming, and North Platte, Nebraska, got word of what had happened, Buffalo Bill was in his final resting place—in Colorado.

Now, more than 2,000,000 persons visit the grave each year, much to the consternation of Wyoming and Nebraska residents. Cody had a ranch near North Platte, and the Wyoming town he founded was named in his honor.

In fact, recently Wyoming residents sought to remove the Western hero's bones to Wyoming. Colorado Gov. Dan Thornton retorted that someone in Wyoming must have been "drinking too much sage-brush juice."

Man Could Reach Mars, Expert Says

URBANA, Ill. — Werner von Braun, German rocket developer now with the U. S. Army, has startled the country with a report that men could reach and explore Mars and then return.

In a book titled "The Mars Project" he says an expedition of 50 earthmen could spend 400 days exploring the planet and return.

He says 49 ferry vessels propelled by three-stage rockets would take part, supplies, fuel and men to a point 1,075 miles above the earth. At that point they would freely circle the earth like a tiny moon while 10 space ships were assembled and readied for the big trip.

A total of 950 flights over eight months' time would be required to ferry sufficient supplies and fuel to the circling takeoff station. He says the ride through space would take 260 days. At the end of their journey the space ships would take up another circling orbit around Mars. The explorers could reach Mars in "landing boats."

Grandmother Gives Birth to Quadruplets

SYDNEY, Australia—Mrs. Ethel Hudson, 38, a grandmother, recently gave birth to quadruplets. She already had 9 children.

Mrs. Hudson says she was not surprised when her doctor delivered a 45-ounce boy and a 61-ounce girl since she expected twins.

But she was somewhat flustered when the third child, a 58-ounce girl, was born, and downright flabbergasted when she gave birth to the fourth child, a 53-ounce daughter.

The multiple birth extended over 3½ hours.

Like the old lady in the shoe, the Hudsons had so many children they did not know what to do—at least as far as housing them was concerned. So they settled down in two big tents on the outskirts of town.

"I suppose I'll have to buy another tent," Hudson commented.

Animals Do Human Things in Drought

NEW YORK—During the drought this past summer in many sections of the country, farmers and estate owners reported that animals did many strange things.

Deer, suffering from the hay shortage, ventured into backyard gardens to eat green tomatoes and melons.

Strange insects appeared, apparently driven out of the ground to hunt for moisture, and other insects like the praying mantis invaded into houses.

Bees died for lack of nectar, and workmen in the fields had to be wary, for the bees hunted humans to sting.

And foxes ventured into civilization in droves.

One workman said he saw a red fox standing near a chicken coop, so absorbed in "casing the joint" that it didn't move when the workman walked up.

Timbuktu

Civilization is catching up with fabled Timbuktu, for generations the epitome of faraway places. A weekly commercial flight across French West Africa from Bamako to Gao now stops at Goundam, just 70 miles from Timbuktu. From Goundam it is only two days by camel to the sun-baked village on the Sahara's southern edge. By motor across the desert's trackless and, it is a mere overnight hop.

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Ma.

PUTTING THE HOUSE IN ORDER

IN TOWN HOMES AND ON THE FARM, THIS IS ABOUT THE TIME OF THE "LAST CALL" FOR GETTING THOSE INSIDE JOBS DONE BEFORE FIELD AND GARDEN BECKON—BEFORE THINGS THAT GROW AND CAN'T BE PUT OFF TAKE OVER.

IN A BROADER SENSE, PUTTING ONE'S HOUSE IN ORDER TO TACKLE THE JOB AHEAD DEPENDS ON THE SENSE OF FINANCIAL SECURITY BUILT BY THRIFT.

THAT WAY, MORE FIELDS CAN BE TILLED, MORE VENTURING DONE.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Senator Joe McCarthy may have inadvertently set theme song of forthcoming Congress.

Recently McCarthy took stand U. S. taxpayers should not pay foreign aid to nations trading with Communists.

Secretary of State Dulles waxed indignant. This nation, he proclaimed, will not attempt to dictate to or coerce friendly nations.

However, a few days later, C. W. Harder in a talk directed specifically to an assembly of the Atlantic Nations Pact in Paris, this same Dulles warned that unless six nation army of European Defense Community is activated soon the U. S. will revise European policies.

Therefore, coercion of allies appears to be largely a matter of who is doing the coercing.

Among many students of the Washington scene, this little round robin is considered as added support for the Bricker amendment to take treaty making powers from the White House and transfer them to Congress to prevent waste of American blood and money on foreign adventures of which the American public does not approve.

From the standpoint of the worldwide boondoggling set, the "off again, on again" switch on coercion of allies came at a bad time as Congressmen are home among their constituents, thoroughly confused by official confusion on international policies.

Constituents are asking "Why so much concern with Timbuctoo when there are problems on Main Street?"

© National Federation of Independent Business

The facts appear that much of the problem besetting independent business is the lack of enforcement of anti-trust laws.

The Federal Trade Commission, charged with investigation of anti-trust law violations, is operating on a budget of $4 million, 100 thousand dollars, or $2 million, 400 thousand dollars less than the FTC considered necessary to do even a mediocre job. The majority of cuts are in the anti-monopoly branch.

Savings of about $24 million could help the citizen's tax bill. But at the same time money is slashed from agency charged with protecting free enterprise in America, $345 million is given France to help her maintain colonial rule over Indo China.

FTC had a smaller staff in April 1953 than it had in 1918. Since that time further reductions lopped off 64 more people.

So far as can be determined, this constant whittling down of the FTC is not being protested by newly appointed Chairman Edward Howrey who formerly fought FTC rulings as a big rubber attorney.

There appears in the entire FTC situation too many coincidences to be believable.

For example, with complaints of anti-trust violations at a high peak FTC strength is slashed.

Yet in a few short years State Department has grown from 900 employees to 42,000.

It is similar to a home owner economizing by cancelling his fire insurance while spending heavily for imported champagne.

In short, the new Congress might take stand their constituents are on Main Street, not in Timbuctoo.

Prize Cherry Pie (Makes two pies) Filling

1½ cups sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup juice
½ cup cornstarch
½ cup juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 tablespoons butter
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
4 1/3 cups red sour cherries, (drained)
Coloring if needed.
Heat in a saucepan the sugar, salt, and one cup juice. Mix together cornstarch and remaining juice and stir into the first mixture. Cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add lemon juice, butter, nutmeg and coloring, if needed. Carefully pour into the well-drained cherries. Mix into two pastry-lined pie pans (recipe below). Moisten the pastry around the edge with water before placing the top pastry on pies. Trim off any surplus pastry and crimp. Bake at 425° for 30 minutes.

Crust

3 cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1/8 teaspoon soda
1 cup lard
1 egg
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 tablespoons water (about)
Sift into mixing bowl flour, salt, sugar and soda. Add lard and cut with a pastry blender until the mixture is in even bits no larger than peas. Beat together in a bowl, egg, lemon juice, and water and add a small amount at a time, to the flour mixture. Toss lightly with a fork after each addition of liquid. Continue the procedure until the pastry mixture is moist enough to form a ball when patted together. Divide the dough into 4 parts. Roll each part on a floured canvas to 1/8 inch thickness. Line two pie pans with two of the circles. Cut remaining circles in ½-inch strips for lattice-top.
